

Paycheck Budget

This budget will help you pay your bills on time and become more financially stable. Below are four tables for four paychecks in a month. If your household has more or fewer paychecks in a month, you can add tables or leave some blank.

With each paycheck, write the amount and the date it was received. In each table, you will start by writing planned expenses for each paycheck and the date of the expense. With the expense and date, you also will record the amount you have budgeted for the expense. After the date of the expense has passed, you will write the actual amount that you spent on the expense and the remaining balance, whether positive or negative.
