I've heard the South Greenhouse is slated for demolition, with no plans to replace it. This is very disappointing. Agriculture and horticulture go hand in hand. As the world turns to more sustainable living, the horticulture programs are more important than ever. Greenhouse crop production is becoming increasingly popular as the weather becomes less dependable. The research to produce disease and pest resistant trees and crops is vital to the future.

As one of the Master Gardeners, I have seen some of the amazing results from NDSU research. I'm proud to be a part of this group and I'm hoping you will either keep the greenhouse, or build newer, better ones for the continuing research.

Thank you,
