Jalyn started her presentation with introduction to IEEE, how and when it started. IEEE was started in 1884 when electricity was a major influence on the society. In 1884 a small group of electrical professions met and started an organization called the American Institute of Electrical Engineers (AIEE). With the revolution of radio's, a new organization started called Institute of Radio Engineers in 1912. In 1963, AIEE and IRE merged to form IEEE. At the time of formation there were 150,000 members. Currently they are IEEE members in over 160 countries.

Currently IEEE has over 39 societies. It is great place for networking. IEEE currently has 170 journals and magazines. IEEE conferences are the best place for networking, getting business card and a great place to volunteer also.

Jalyn showed various tabs on the iee.org website, discussed IEEE ResumeLab, IEEE job site, IEEE Xplore Digital Library, IEEE.tv. She even mentioned about webinars, IEEE Xtreme Programming Competition, IEEE Engineering Projects in Community Service (EPICS), scholarships and travel grants. She also asked questions and gave out lot of prizes.

Please see the attached presentation from Jalyn for more information.
